

Outside Director Plans

Public companies typically have compensation plans specifically designed for their outside directors. These often include equity compensation and nonqualified deferred compensation plans. We assist companies with the tax and securities law issues that arise with these arrangements.