

Executive Agreements and Bonus Plans

Organizations often enter into individualized agreements with their top executives that provide for severance and additional benefits under certain circumstances. These may take the form of employment, severance, or change in control agreements. Annual and long-term bonus plans provide executives with rewards if certain organizational or personal goals are achieved. We help clients structure these arrangements to meet complex rules under the Internal Revenue Code and other applicable laws.