

From Our Chairman

January 2011

Thank you for your interest in Groom Law Group. While our website is an excellent informational resource for our clients and friends, it is my hope that you will use it to find our greatest resource at Groom – our attorneys. Through the website, you can see first hand the strengths, experience and impressive qualifications of all of our lawyers. I believe that we offer a depth, breadth and quality of attorney expertise that no other firm can match.

At Groom, each attorney is assigned to one or more of Groom's nine practice groups covering virtually every area of interest in employee benefits. Although we work in specialized practice groups, our lawyers share a common understanding of the law that enables us to integrate our efforts across areas of specialization to produce the best and most comprehensive results for our clients.

Our depth of expertise includes all elements of legal representation – from advice on regulatory and legislative matters to class action litigation. Groom attorneys include former staff from the Treasury, IRS, DOL, PBGC and SEC, as well as Congressional committees with jurisdiction over benefits and tax issues. This experience with the legislative and regulatory process and the resulting relationships we enjoy are invaluable to us and our clients. The range of our practice and collective experience makes for an exceptional group of people.

I invite you to visit the Attorneys and Inside Perspectives sections to learn more about the unique individuals who come together to practice employee benefits at Groom. Their biographies provide an introduction to Groom's greatest resource – our people.
