

News

Insurance NewsNet Cites Groom Publication on Final Fiduciary Rule

ATTORNEYS & PROFESSIONALS

Jon Breyfogle

jbreyfogle@groom.com

202-861-6641

Jennifer Eller

jeller@groom.com

202-861-6604

Michael Kreps

mkreps@groom.com

202-861-5415

Jason Lee

jlee@groom.com

202-861-6649

David Levine

dlevine@groom.com

202-861-5436

Thomas Roberts

troberts@groom.com

202-861-6616

George Sepsakos

gsepsakos@groom.com

202-861-0182

Kevin L. Walsh

kwash@groom.com

202-861-6645

Brigen Winters

bwinters@groom.com

202-861-6618

PUBLISHED

06/03/2024

SOURCE

Insurance NewsNet

Groom's summary of the Department of Labor's ("DOL") final fiduciary rule was highlighted in the Insurance NewsNet article, "Annuities Selling Strong, but For How Long?"

Insurance NewsNet recapped the portion of the publication that read, "DOL has recognized that a variety of sales activity does not give rise to fiduciary status... This opens up a range of possibilities for interactions amongst sophisticated parties to remain non-fiduciary in nature in a way that may not have been possible under the Proposal."

The platform also summarized the portion of the publication that read, "The final amendment allows both cash and noncash compensation from any and all sources, subject to compliance with the exemption's Impartial Conduct Standards and other applicable conditions."

To read the article, click here.