

News

Vault Names Groom Top 150 Under 150

PUBLISHED

08/08/2019

SERVICES

Employers & Sponsors

- Retirement Programs
- Health & Welfare Programs

Health ServicesLitigation

- Health Services Litigation

Retirement Services

- Financial Institutions & Advisers
- Plan Services & Providers

In the 2020 edition of Vault, Groom has been named in their Top 150 Under 150 list, which features the best-known and most sought-after U.S. firms with fewer than 150 attorneys. In addition to feedback from associates working at Groom, key considerations for inclusion on the list include attaining a certain level of prestige, quality of life and professional growth opportunities as well as providing top-notch service to clients and delivering big results.

Representing a diverse group of clients in finance, retirement, health care and the public sector, Groom's concentration of talent and expertise distinguishes it from others in the field. Vault highlights Groom's niche in employee benefits and ERISA noting that "...Groom Law continues to be closely tapped in to the sources of U.S. employee benefits law" and "[w]ith all that collective experience under their belt, it's no wonder Groom's legal team has had the privilege of assisting blue chip companies with employee benefits issues across a variety of industries."

What Associates Have to Say About Groom

- "Associates are treated with respect and their opinions valued. We are expected to contribute in meaningful ways and have contact with the clients."
- "I have been very pleased with the amount of work I have to do. While the firm is busy, people have lives outside work and I've had no problem with managing my work/life balance."
- "I am very happy at Groom. My work is interesting and challenging, and my colleagues are great—they're always willing to answer my questions, and they're also genuinely nice people."